

Plato's Dialogues

Workings in groups, develop dialogues like Plato did that deal with questions such as the following:

What is justice?

How should good people behave?

To what extent should one help friends and hurt enemies?

What are the important jobs in a society?

What should be the role of art in society?

Imagine you are going to interview Plato to discuss his book The Republic. Working in pairs, brainstorm what aspects of Plato's philosophy you will explore and what quotations or paraphrases from The Republic you will ask him about. Consider what points you will challenge Plato about. Present your questions to the class.
